BECK AND SHERMAN.

The Kentucky Senator Assails the Ohio Gentleman.

THE SILVER QUESTION REVIVED.

There Are Gold Men in the Democratic Fold—Sherman Replies by Referring His Assailant to the Records of Congress.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Hale called up the resolution offered by him for the appointment of a special committee to examine fully into the present condition of the civil service in all branches of the government.

Cockrell offered an amendment, to extend the inquiry to instances of pernicious partisan activity of republican officials since the executive order of President Hayes of June, 1887, particularly in the presidential elections of 1880 and 1884.

Hale said he could not consent to the amendment. He was not, however, opposed to an investigation; he desired it; but it should go on distinctly by itself. The amendment was defeated by a strict party vote—ayes 24, noes 29—and the original resolution was adopted.

BECK'S COIN CERTIFICATE BILL.

The senate proceeded to consideration of Beck's bill to provide for retirement of United States legal tender and National bank notes of small denomination, and for an issue of coin certificates in lieu of gold certificates.

The bill, Beck said, had been referred to the finance committee, and had been (last Tuesday) reported back by a bare majority. He referred to what he said in his speech on the pension bill as to Sherman's responsibility for the silver demonetization measure. In support of his statement that that measure had been carried through congress secretly, he quoted from a speech made in the house by Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the chairman who had charge of the bill, to the effect that the bill was passed without any allusion in debate to the question of abandonment of the standard silver dollar law, and that he (Kelley) did not know anything of it for eighteen months afterwards. He also quoted from a recent speech in the senate by Senator Stewart, who was in the senate in 1873, and who, although his state was deeply interested in the question, knew nothing of the bill demonetizing silver. He also quoted from a speech of Senator Allison, in 1887, in which he declared that the bill of 1873 was "doctored"; from a speech of Senator Howe, of Wisconsin, in 1887, in which he spoke of it as an act of guilt, "compared with which the robbery of $200,000,000 was venial"; and from a speech of Senator Ingalls, in 1878, in which he spoke of it as the "culmination of a scheme long entertained by the holders of the public debt, devised by them for the purpose of appreciating the value of their investment, regardless of the ruin and desolation which it would bring on the productive classes of the nation." He also quoted from a speech of Senator Voorhees, in which he spoke of it as having "crawled into the statute book, furtively and noiselessly;" from a speech of Senator Coke, in which he said: "No greater outrage had ever been perpetrated under form of law;" and from speeches of other senators. He also quoted from the house proceedings on the occasion of the passage of that bill (regulating operations of the mint). What he complained of, he said, and claimed to prove, was that the house never knew what was in the bill; that it was supported by Hooper as a substitute for all former bills on the subject; that it was avowed by Hooper that it had nothing to do with coinage. He denounced as untrue the pretense that silver was demonetized because it was more valuable than gold, but declared it was because the capitalists and landowners saw that gold was becoming more and more valuable every day. He also charged that "the fraud" was consummated through a provision of the statutes. The act of 1873 had not destroyed the legal tender principle of the silver coin then in existence; but the revised statutes (which professed not to alter the law in a single syllable) came afterwards and declared that silver coin should be a legal tender for not more than $5. Was that an accident? It was true that whoever did it committed a palpable fraud upon the country, for it requires the revised statutes to destroy the silver coinage of the country.

The truth was that from the beginning of the war until now, the money men of the country and their associates and supporters in congress and elsewhere, had sought first, to make money out of the country's distresses; and then at all hazards and by all means, foul and fair, lawful or unlawful, to make themselves rich at the expense of the great masses of the people. The demonetization of silver was but one step in that line, a step which was in perfect accord with all other steps taken. The act in the revised statutes was another step in the same direction. After that was done, the next thing determined upon was to strike down greenbacks (on the resumption act); to destroy them altogether, and to leave the nation dependent on the banks omnipotent of our land. At this time the senator from Ohio had been chairman of the senate committee on finance.

After criticising several of Sherman's reports and suggestions while secretary of the treasury, Beck said: "That is one of the reasons why I said that, while the senator from Ohio might be president of the United States, his conduct in relation to the act of 1873, and his great financial abilities (exercised as they always have been in the interest of the money power), will not be a record of which he will be proud when he comes before the people."

The bill that he (Beck) had introduced, proposed to issue coin certificates instead of gold and silver certificates. This was the first great step for the country to take. Silver had its friends among the people at large, but it never had an enemy who had done it so much harm as the senator from Ohio.

Referring to the efforts of the national banks to prevent the coinage of silver, he spoke of those banks as a failure, as no longer of any account, as going down every day.

As to Edward Atkinson's report on the silver question, he spoke of him as doubtless an able and respectable man, but a doctrinaire.

Hoar reminded Beck that the present administration had sent Atkinson to Europe.

Mr. Beck—I know it; and that is what I complain of. Oh, bless you! There are gold men in the democratic party as well as in the republican party.

In conclusion he said he would call up his bill for action at an early day, when he would see whether the senate agreed with him in thinking his bill a step in the right direction.

SHERMAN'S REPLY.

Sherman said he would reply briefly to one or two matters of a personal character which the senator felt justified in lugging into the controversy. The senator's answer to-day to what he (Sherman) had said when he last spoke on the subject, was lame and impotent to the last degree. How had he answered? By going to the record and seeing whether the demonetization law was put through in a secret way? Not at all; but by quoting speeches made on the stump or in the senate, and grossly misapplying. He (Sherman) was now able, from the original senate records, to show that the bill in question had been openly discussed, fully considered and submitted to public opinion in every form, inside of congress and outside. It was not a bill of his devising. He had never seen it until it was sent to him as chairman of the finance committee by the secretary of the treasury. It did not become a law for three years afterwards, and in the meantime it had been printed thirteen times and been debated over and over again. The house had insisted on reducing the weight of the silver dollar to 384 grains, or just the exact equivalent of two half dollars, thus making the silver dollar practically a minor or subsidiary coin. From that time (April, 1870) till the passage of the law of February, 1873, that provision had stood in the law, been printed over and over again in both houses, and yet members of congress had been quoted as saying they did not know what was in the bill. It was in deference to the wishes of the Pacific coast that the senate had substituted for the subsidiary silver coin proposed by the house trade dollars of 420 grains, troy weight, and yet men here said he pleaded the baby act in the matter. He knew what was in the bill. He knew that the original proposition of the house was to convert the silver dollar into a minor coin, and he did not believe in that. He believed it better to have a coin according to the desires of the California people, that would become a coin of commerce. But there was one thing he did not see. He did not see into the future. He did not foresee that the silver dollar, which was then at a premium of three per cent over the gold dollar, would, within fifteen years, be worth only seventy cents. If anybody had told him so, he would have thought him crazy. So that all that there was about it was that congress had not foreseen a change in the value of the silver dollar. When any one, in the light of these facts, said anything was sought to be done by indirection and secrecy, he did injustice to himself and the records.

As to the payment of the interest of United States bonds in coin, (which Beck had found so much fault with,) he thanked God that it had been legislated for. If it had not been, what, he asked, would have become of the national credit? Without the strong anchor of coin interest the bonds would have disappeared like the certificate bonds, into thin air "unhonored and unsung."

As to the senator's talk about resumption, who did not feel, he asked, that that great work of courage, not only of congress but of the departments and of the people, was an honor? He did not want to precipitate this silver question. He did not care to discuss it. His views on the subject were known. Whenever he could see his way clear (with the general consent of the people, and with the consent of Colorado, Nevada and California) to take any step to deal with the silver question he was perfectly willing to do it. He thought the time might come when all the silver product of the country might be represented by coin certificates, but when it would have to be bought at its market value, and not at an artificial value.

After all, what had his silver friends made by their forced attempts to get silver into circulation? Silver had gone down steadily. He would like to see it advance in value. Congress and the nation were powerful in many things, but they were not powerful enough to create values. These had to be fixed by value-making mercantile nations. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The bill providing that the first session of the fifty-first congress begin March 4th was reported adversely.

The bills for the erection of an army gun factory, and to provide for public defense, were reported and referred to the committee of the whole.

The bill limiting the coinage of double eagles to 20 per cent. of gold deposited in the mints, and discontinuing the coinage of three and one dollar gold pieces, was reported and placed on the calendar.

The omnibus bill for admission into the Union of Dakota, Montana, Washington and New Mexico, was reported and referred to the committee of the whole.

The Grosvenor resolution directing the committee on military affairs to inquire whether any unofficial matter has been incorporated in the rebellion records was reported back and adopted.

The remainder of the day was consumed in consideration of the bill alloting lands in severalty to the united Peoria and Miami Indians, which finally passed, and the house adjourned.

SHERMAN'S INVESTMENT BILL.

The Measure Fails to Meet the Approval of the Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Secretary Fairchild to-day sent a letter to the senate finance committee in regard to the Sherman bill for investment of funds for redemption of national bank notes. Said bill directs the secretary of the treasury to invest eighty per cent. of the fund held by the treasury for redemption of notes of national banks which have reduced their circulation, by purchase, in the markets of the United States, of interest-bearing bonds. The bill is mandatory, and would require the investment to be made immediately upon its passage. The secretary is further directed to sell, in open market, so many of said bonds as, in his judgment, shall be necessary to redeem the bank notes as they are presented for redemption, when the uninvested portion of said fund falls below twenty per cent of the whole. The bill further declares that its purpose is to maintain in the treasury for such redemption not less than twenty per cent and not more than thirty per cent of money deposited.

The secretary discusses the questions raised by the bill, and says: "After mature consideration it does not seem to be well thus forcibly and suddenly to expand the circulating medium, when the expansion inevitably must be followed in a short time, and perhaps suddenly, by an almost equal contraction." This would, in the secretary's judgment, promote only speculation, not healthful business. On the whole, it would appear better that the time when this contraction takes place should be determined by voluntary action of banks, as is now the case.

The increased circulation authorized by this bill would probably not exceed $19,000,000. There would not be a great profit in the circulation, at the present price of bonds, even if this additional circulation were authorized. Any attempt by the banks to purchase many bonds would soon advance their price beyond the point where circulation could be profitably issued upon them. This certainly would be the case if the forced governmental purchase required by the provisions of this bill were simultaneous with bank purchases. However, the ten per centum increase would be, to that extent, of benefit to the banks, and not harmful to the public, except as it might compel the government to pay more for bonds, the purchase of which is directed by this bill than otherwise would be the case.

If the average annual decrease of national bank circulation should continue to equal that of the past five years the whole circulation would be retired by the end of the fiscal year 1894. It is not possible, however, that this rate of decrease can continue, unless government purchases drive the price of bonds so high that it would be for the interest of the banks to sell and retire from the national system. Even if the circulation should continue in the past ratio of retirement there is no reason to fear that its place would not be supplied by other forms of circulating media as rapidly as in the past.

The secretary says that in his judgment the purchase of bonds with surplus revenue is the only immediate relief from the evils caused by the accumulation in the treasury, but this relief would be only temporary. Repeal of the laws which levy excessive taxation, and cause the accumulation of the harmful surplus, is the only adequate remedy.

A PROTEST FROM SOUTHEASTERN OREGON.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Congressman Hermann to-day submitted to the secretary of the interior a protest from a long list of settlers in the Silver Lake country, Southeastern Oregon, enumerating numerous quarter-section tracts of land which they assert are wrongly selected by the state, with the consent of the government agents, as swamp land, which is not such in fact, but meadow lands, and the most valuable in that valley and that the moisture thereon is occasioned by brief periodical overflow; and in that dry climate is essential to the successful cultivation of crops; and they represent that the patenting of every tract of these lands expels an actual bona-fide settler and taxpayer.

MILLS BARGAINING FOR VOTES.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Representative Mills of Texas, is endeavoring to win votes for his measure. It was stated that he has offered certain concessions to two California democrats in the house if they would pledge their votes for his bill. Representative Biggs stated to Mr. Mills that if fruit and raisins were put back were they now stand he would take the chance of striking out the clause relating to wool on the floor of the house, and would support the bill whether the wool clause was stricken out or retained. It is possible Mills will endeavor to make some concessions to Thompson and Biggs if they will pledge their votes for the bill.

A REQUEST BY HERMANN.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Representative Hermann called upon the postmaster general this morning, to request that terminal service at Lebanon and Albany, Oregon, be put on. He stated that the O. & C. railroad had given notice that it would carry mail between those points but would not supply postoffices from the depot.

Postmaster General Dickinson stated that there was but one place in the country where terminal facilities were afforded in a place of that character, but he would take the request into consideration.

THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The house committee on Indian affairs has completed the annual Indian appropriation bill. It appropriates $5,192,253, being $296,444 less than the estimates.

ABANDONED TO THEIR FATE.

Beecher Refuses to Help the Smugglers Arrested in New York.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—A special from Ogdensburg, N. Y., says: E. A. Gardiner and Ephraim, his cousin, arrested here some time ago with 1500 pounds of smuggled opium in their possession, have despaired of help from Pacific coast friends. Special Agent Beecher refuses to reply to Gardiner's letter and telegrams, and is not here to help him. The only friend on the coast who has been heard from is Haines, a lawyer from Seattle, to whom Gardiner sent money to come. Since his second arrest Gardiner has been confined in the Canton jail, eighteen miles south of here. In the meantime Terry, who was special agent under Beecher at Port Townsend, is across the river at Prescott, under the assumed name of John Anderson. It is now learned, and not denied by Gardiner, that a ton and a half of opium was smuggled across the river here in November. It was shipped from Felt's mills, at a station near Watertown. The agent indentifies the two Gardiners as the shippers, and shows the waybill. Not one of the officials here doubts that Gardiner has accomplices in official station on the Pacific coast, and the name of Beecher is freely handled without gloves.

THE MEXICAN EPISODE.

President Diaz Orders the Release of the Janos Prisoners.

EL PASO, March 13.—Acting Gov. Carillo, of the state of Chihuahua, was in Paso del Norte to-day, and stated that as soon as he heard Marshal Meade was arrested at Janos he telegraphed the facts to the federal government at the City of Mexico, and President Diaz directed him to order the release of the prisoners, but not to return their arms. Gov. Carillo at once dispatched a courier to Janos, and the prisoners were released. President Diaz says the Mexican authorities would gladly detail officers to aid Marshal Meade in his efforts to capture any train robbers if aid were asked, but the action of the marshal in pursuing the robbers without treaty stipulations or permission Mexico could not overlook. Gov. Carillo told Consul Mackey at Paso del Norte that he had sent a description of the Stein's Pass robbers to all towns in Northern Mexico, with orders to arrest them if they are seen.

THE STORM GOES ON.

A Scarcity of Coal and Milk in New York.

TRAINS STILL AT A STANDSTILL.

Communication by Wire Also Broken and Restricted in All Directions—Great Loss of Life and Shipping on the Coast.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The stock exchange will adjourn to-day, and the loan market at 1:30 P. M.

Several persons, it is reported, perished in this city last night. Communication with Washington and all points south of New York is still entirely cut off. No surface cars are running. The snow is frozen so hard that plows cannot be used and gangs of men with shovels and picks are endeavoring to clear the roads. East river is frozen hard this morning, and many Brooklynites walked across to New York. Few trains, if any, have reached the different terminals in New York and Jersey City. Many trains are stalled between stations on the New York Central. Officials said yesterday that forty trains were snowed in. Not a train reached the Central depot during the day. Most of the roads report a similar condition of affairs. Passengers suffer great discomfort. Ferryboats are only run at long intervals. All East ern wires are down.

A communication from Philadelphia last night said the storm there was the worst in over forty years. No trains are running and many are snow bound near the city. The east-bound Chicago limited on the Pennsylvania is snowed in seventeen miles from the city. Business is suspended. All telegraph wires are down.

PARTIAL RESUMPTION OF TRAFFIC.

There has been only a partial resumption of traffic in this city. Elevated road trains are running at intervals, but they are wholly inadequate for the requirements. The wind is still blowing furiously and the snow is badly drifted, being piled in many places six to nine feet high.

The stock exchange adopted the following resolution this morning:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the members present that all dealings, so far as possible, be suspended, and that all deliveries go over until to-morrow.

Last night was the worst ever experienced along the banks of the Hudson and along the West Chester shore of the sound. The mercury at 2 o'clock this morning at Dobbs' Ferry on the Hudson, and at Port Chester on the sound, marked zero. The gale swept with a fearful velocity. Railroad traffic on Long Island is entirely blocked. Thousands of men are at work digging out the tracks. Snow plows cannot be used.

President Austin Corbin is snowbound at Jamaica. He left on the train for Brooklyn yesterday morning.

George D. Barrymore, a well known importer and dealer in hops at No. 3 Water street, was found frozen stiff in a snow bank on Seventh avenue. Barrymore lived with his wife and family at Osborne flats, Fifty-first street and Broadway. He started for his office down town yesterday, and it is supposed he became exhausted and dropped by the way unnoticed.

The body of Annie Halpin Fisher, aged about 30 years, was found last night frozen stiff in a hallway.

Most people who got to business yesterday were unable to get home last night. The hotels were strained to their utmost, and stores and offices were converted into sleeping apartments for the benefit of employes. Many girls were compelled to accept such quarters. A majority of the theaters were closed last night. A milk famine is threatened if the blockade is not soon cleared.

A tenement house in West Forty-third burned early this morning. Twenty families had to run for their lives. Most of them were scantily dressed. They were given shelter in a neighboring saloon. The building was entirely burned.

Reports are received that five pilot boats are ashore and full of water at Sandy Hook, and three at Bay Ridge, together with a number of schooners and fishing smacks in the Horse Shoe, all driven ashore in last night's gale. Fifteen pilot boats are now at sea, and pilots ashore fear for their safety.

INCIDENTS OF THE BLOCKADE.

NEW YORK, March 13.—This afternoon things assumed a slightly better aspect, but a majority of the business houses were either closed, or practically so; not a surface railroad company made any attempt to run cars. Elevated railway trains ran with irregularity during the afternoon, and, with a few sleighs, were the only means of conveyance. Broadway and other great north and south thoroughfares are well nigh impassable with mountains of snow shovelled from sidewalks. A majority of the cross streets are quagmires of soft snow, one to three feet deep.

At 8 o'clock this evening snow was still falling. No milk has been received in this or the neighboring cities of Brooklyn or Jersey City for thirty-six hours, or if received cannot be distributed on account of the impassable condition of the streets. No butchers', milkmen, grocers' or other carts are visible. All provisions are delivered by hand, men floundering painfully through drifts. Coal even is being carried in thousands of places by bag, basket and bucketful, and in the poor quarters on the east side the price is nearly doubled. A number of restaurants were compelled to close their doors, being unable to get either fuel or provisions. The hotels were compelled to get most of their fresh meats and vegetables carried by hand, and some are arranging for relays of men to bring coal from the docks in bags. It is a laborious process for horses to pull a cart with half a ton of coal. Hack drivers asked $30 to $50 for a comparatively short drive, and gangs of boys and men are making their own terms for supplying householders imprisoned behind the snowdrifts.

It was impossible to get New York papers to-day throughout a large portion of Brooklyn and Jersey City. The public schools are practically closed.

THE SITUATION GROWS WORSE.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Midnight—The situation at this hour is less promising than during the afternoon. Snow is falling heavily again. The railroads have made no perceptible progress towards resumption of travel. Many ferry boats on the Hudson and East river have ceased running, being unable to get coal for the furnaces.

AT UTICA.

UTICA, N. Y., March 13.—The storm has abated, but the extraordinary fall of snow completely blocks travel. The fast mail and the Atlantic express, due in New York early this morning, are at the depot. No trains have arrived to-day and none are expected.

THE SITUATION AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The fierce windstorm which struck Washington last Saturday night, and which has continued uninterrupted since that time, shows no signs of abatement. The day has been cloudless, but the force and iciness of the wind kept indoors all except those who were compelled to brave it. Work done yesterday in the way of repairing telegraph wires leading to the city and clearing obstructions from the railroad tracks, was to a large extent undone by the wind of last night and to-day. The force of linemen between Philadelphia and Washington removed from the railroad tracks 700 poles. The cut-off between this city and New York seems to be hopeless, for the present at least, and there appears to be no chance of re-establishing communication, so long as the weather continues so severe. Telegraph men state that the wreck of the lines is the worst they have ever known. The railroad situation is practically unchanged since yesterday.

Three trains arrived to-night from Philadelphia, after a long and hard trip. No trains have arrived from New York since the one which came in yesterday.

At the signal office, it is said the present storm is unprecedented since the origin of the signal service. The temperature to-day was lower than ever before known at this season of year.

THE WIRES STILL DOWN.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company, which were completely demolished between Chicago and Eastern points by yesterday's storm are still in a very bad shape. Local officials have as yet no means of knowing the extent of the trouble. There is but one duplex wire to New York that can be used, while Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia are completely cut off from direct communication with the East. The storm, it is reported, has subsided this morning.

Meager reports of the signal service office indicate that the storm was very violent along the North Atlantic coast, sweeping over the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio; very cold weather is reported from many points. At Albany the mercury last night marked 4 degrees above zero, and at New York 10 above. At Albany and Pittsburg the snowfall is reported to be very heavy. There is no interruption on telegraph lines either South or West.

BALTIMORE BOTTLED UP.

BALTIMORE, March 13.—For the first time in the existence of the telegraph Baltimore was shut off from communication with New York and Washington for over twenty-four hours from Sunday night. Not only were the wires down, but hundreds of poles also. The wind blew a gale and the thermometer fell twenty degrees in ten hours. The tide was lower than ever known in the memory of wharfmen, being at least twelve feet below the level of ordinary low water. No vessels could live in the bay Sunday night, and there have doubtless been many disasters, which will be reported when vessels begin to arrive.

AROUND PHILADELPHIA.

That City's Plight Nearly as Bad as That of New York.

PITTSBURG, March 13.—Business on the Pennsylvania railroad between this city and Philadelphia is completely paralyzed. No trains have arrived from the East since last night. Everything is blockaded with snow and all trains are snowbound, with little prospect of their getting out for twenty-four hours. At some places the snow is drifted as high as six feet, and there are miles and miles of freight trains waiting to get through. Never before in the history of railroads has there been such a blockade. The cold weather will be very severe on train men and passengers, as the thermometer at most places is below zero. No mails have arrived from the East since 6 o'clock last evening, and it is estimated that there are 60,000 letters snowbound between Pittsburg and Philadelphia. Telegraphic communication is still almost entirely cut off. There is no trouble West.

THE STORM CONTINUES.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—The severe storm which commenced in this vicinity Sunday evening still rages, so far as the drifting of snow is concerned, and the herculean efforts of the railway officials have so far been fruitless in getting the various lines into successful operation. The wind has continued to blow all day, and thousands of laborers who have been digging at the mountains of snow and ice on the various lines leading into this city have had a disheartening task. The loss to the commercial interests of Philadelphia cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, and the time which will be required to put railroad and telegraphic traffic in its normal condition cannot even be estimated. Railroad traffic for the present is almost entirely suspended. No wrecks have been reported on the various roads to-day, but a number occurred yesterday. Fortunately none of them was attended with fatal results, although several train hands received painful injuries. A party of twenty-eight railroad men and passengers has been stuck in a big drift at Dudley, on the Amboy division in New Jersey, since yesterday morning, and fearing they were suffering for food on the train, one of the train dispatchers organized a relief party, taking a big four horse team and sleigh with provisions. They endeavored to force a way through the country roads, but their success has not yet been learned.

The blockading of the railroads, both in this state and New Jersey, has cut short the supply of milk and produce, and the former article cannot be purchased except in very small quantities in this city.

MANY VESSELS AND LIVES LOST.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—Reports by special messenger from Wilmington, Del., say word has been received from Lewes, by a railroad wire, that a number of vessels and tugs have been sunk at Delaware breakwater, and twenty-five lives lost. Two bodies have already been recovered, and it is believed the loss of life along the coast will be terrible.

Later reports to-night say that one tugboat was sunk. The wrecking company's steamer was also sunk, and one tug and various sailing vessels—twenty-three in number—were blown ashore. It is estimated that fully twenty-five lives were lost. Report has also reached here that the iron railroad pier at Lewes parted in the middle during the storm, leaving some people on the other end whose fate is unknown.

A SEVERE EXPERIENCE.

PITTSBURG, March 13.—The first train from the East in nearly forty-eight hours arrived over the Pennsylvania about midnight. The crew reported a hard experience. All along the roads trains are laid up, unable to move on account of snow blockades. It is still snowing hard in the mountains, and the wind is blowing a gale.

THIRTY WORKMEN BURIED.

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., March 13.—A premature explosion of a large charge of dynamite in a railroad cut near here this afternoon buried thirty workmen beneath a mass of debris. An Italian was killed, two men were fatally injured, and most of the others more or less bruised.

SEVERAL PERSONS MISSING.

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 13.—This city has been isolated for two days, without telegraphic communication to any point. Trains on all the railroads are snowbound. One man has been found in a snowdrift, frozen to death. Several persons are missing.

FIVE MEN DEAD.

TROY, N. Y., March 13.—Three men were killed near here by a snowplow accident, and two were found dead in the snow at Arnoldsville.

THE IMPERIAL DEAD.

Scenes Within the Cathedral—Prince William and the Troops.

BERLIN, March 13.—The back portion of the cathedral has been converted into a platform, which is covered with black serge and is intended for the reception of the floral offerings of the public. On the other side of the altar stand laurel trees and lofty exotics imbedded in a mass of flowers in full bloom, including camellias and thousands of snow blossoms. Palm branches of colossal dimensions conceal the granite columns. A continuous stream of people passed over the bridge which has been erected in the cathedral, and which affords a view of the catafalque. No person is allowed to stop.

Prince William stood for an hour superintending the arrangements and giving final orders, during which time fifty stalwart guards du corps, dressed in showy uniforms and helmets bearing silver eagles, all men picked from the first families of the land, laid floral wreaths at the feet of the dead emperor and then knelt and recited short prayers.

Prince William ordered that the thick white veil almost completely concealing the emperor's face be removed. This was replaced after the guards had taken their final look at the dead. The same thing was afterwards done when the Contingents, Emperor William's favorite regiment, were present on the same sad errand. This morning only artists, photographers, newspaper men and court ladies were admitted to the cathedral.

THE EMPEROR.

CHARLOTTENBURG, March 13.—Emperor Frederick passed a good night. He is fairly well. He received a deputation of Berlin aldermen at Charlottenburg palace to-day. The emperor will not leave Charlottenburg for some days.

OPINION IN OTHER CAPITALS.

BERLIN, March 13.—Newspapers of all European capitals praise the statesmanlike utterances of Emperor Frederick, but there is much discussion as to whether or not the character of his proclamation is due to assistance from Bismarck. The only note of dissatisfaction heard as yet emanates from the anti-Semitic party, both in Germany and Austria.

Twenty thousand persons assembled at 8 o'clock this morning, awaiting a visit to the cathedral where the remains of Emperor William are lying in state. Every woman wore a crape veil. The police were compelled to close the approaches to the great square in front of the castle, to prevent a crush. Many persons were injured, and some policemen were unhorsed in the rush, but as a general rule the people were orderly.

Emperor Frederick is greatly pleased at the Czarovich's intention to come to Berlin to attend the late Emperor's funeral. He said if the Czarovitch was unable to arrive in time, in consequence he will postpone the funeral until Saturday.

A wealthy baron paid 600 marks for a window in the Hotel Bauer, from which to view the funeral procession, and 800 marks has been paid for a small balcony.

GERMAN PRESS COMMENT.

BERLIN, March 13.—Advanced conservative newspapers express disappointment at what they call Emperor Frederick's effusions, considering his views antiquated and not corresponding with the great questions of the day. Conservative papers reserve their opinion, except to reject the idea that this reference to religious toleration is directed against the anti-Semitic campaign. Liberals greatly approve his utterances, while scientific and art circles greet him as heralding a new era.

A COUNTY-SEAT WAR.

The Records of Rush County, Kansas, Carried by Force to La Crosse.

TOPEKA, March 13.—It has just been learned that the Rush county-seat war broke out again Saturday last and assumed a most serious aspect. In defiance of the positive mandate of the supreme court, the people of La Crosse have again taken forcible possession of the county records, and removed them from Walnut City.

Late Saturday afternoon 200 men with fifty teams entered Walnut City, and, driving up to the building occupied by the county offices, proceeded to load the records, safe and all office fixtures into the wagons. The crowd was boisterously demonstrative. A number of guns and revolvers were displayed, and the mob declared its intention of laying the town in ashes if any resistance was offered. No resistance was offered, however, and the records were carried away. Representatives of Walnut City now intend to invoke the aid of the governor and supreme court.

FUNERAL OF T. J. POTTER.

The Dead Railroad Manager Conveyed to His Old Home at Ottumwa.

OTTUMWA, Iowa, March 13.—The funeral train bearing the remains of T. J. Potter reached this city at 12:45 to-day. Carriages were in waiting to receive relations and friends. An immense concourse of people had already assembled to pay their last respects to one whose death all our people looked upon as a personal loss. Two thousand people, in carriages and on foot, followed the funeral cortege to the city cemetery. Arriving at the grounds, the casket was borne to a platform in the center of the grounds, and a brief service was concluded by Rev. F. R. Seeley and Rev. J. M. McElroy, of this city. Opportunity was then given to look upon the face of the dead, and the throng passed silently by the bier, taking a last look upon their friend and neighbor. The body was then placed in the receiving vault, to await burial in the grounds he had years ago selected and adorned.

STRIKE ON THE U. P.

Switch Engineers and Firemen Quit Work at Omaha.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—A Chronicle special from Omaha says: At midnight Union Pacific switch engineers and firemen quit their engines, announcing that they would not work any longer. The engines were taken to the roundhouse. This is practically the beginning of a strike on the Union Pacific system.

MERITS FRANCE'S APPROVAL.

PARIS, March 13.—All the evening papers agree that Emperor Frederick's proclamation is pacific in tone, and merits the approval of France. The government sends General Billot, Colonel Sesonal-sons, and M. Kornprobst, to Berlin to represent France at the funeral of the emperor.

Senator Carnot, father of President Carnot, is dying.

PACIFIC COAST.

The Dimmig Murder Case Given to the Jury.

HAMBERG AND PAL CONVICTED.

Disastrous Fire at Walla Walla—Rev. Sheldon Jackson and Mrs. Cunningham Drowned in Alaska—Coast Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The trial of John A. Dimmig for the murder of Henry Benhayon came to an end to-day, after lasting nearly four weeks, the case being given to the jury at a quarter of 6 o'clock. The courtroom was crowded, both at the morning and afternoon sessions. The proceedings were occupied with the closing speech of Attorney Darcy for the defense, who confined himself to the circumstantiality of the evidence, and the determination of the detectives and the prosecution to fix the crime on Dimmig.

Attorney Tumsuden followed. The witnesses for the defense had thrown an air of mystery around the case, and not the prisoner. The fact that cyanide of potassium was found near the body showed that it had been used by a tyro; because a person who knew the action of the preparation, and of drugs generally, would be aware of the fact that it would not operate for half an hour after taken, so if deceased had been poisoned by others he would have been given some other drug than cyanide of pottassum, if it was intended to avoid convulsions. On the question whether the confession was forged, experts had disagreed. The attorney then attacked the testimony of Dr. Harlow, who claimed he had seen Dimmig, Mrs. Zeising and Benhayon near the house on the night of the alleged murder. This testimony he considered deliberately false. Dimmig's statement as to his whereabouts was substantiated by witnesses Appel, Bernstein, Higgins, Dr. Scholl and others, while Mrs. Zeising's evidence that she was at home at 10 o'clock on the night of the 2d was corroborated by her husband and her landlady, Mrs. Rucker. Another point in favor of defendant was that in all his transactions, purchases of cyanide of potassium and the hiring of rooms, he had given no assumed name, as would have been the case were he criminally minded.

District Attorney Kirk replied to Tumsuden, and the court then read the charge to the jury, the instructions being quite voluminous. In regard to the testimony of writing experts the jury was instructed that the evidence of the greater number of witnesses called as experts should not overbalance the testimony given by the smaller number because of that fact. The jury then retired.

NO AGREEMENT PROBABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—When, at 10 o'clock to-night, Judge Murphy had the Dimmig jury brought into court, and learned that they had not reached an agreement, he said: "Then, gentlemen, you will have to remain during the night. It is out of the question to talk about discharging you now. The trial has been of long duration, and is of great importance. Therefore, I will have to send you back to the jury room, and I will remain at your command up to 12 o'clock. If by that time you have not agreed upon a verdict you will remain the balance of the night."

"You may as well let us go now, for we will never agree," exclaimed one of the jurors, and they accordingly returned to the room. It was reported the jury stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction, but that was not positive.

NO VERDICT.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Up to 1:45 A. M. no verdict had been reached by the Dimmig jury. It is now stated that if a verdict is agreed on to-night a sealed one will be returned.

HAMBERG AND PILCHER CONVICTED.

The Jury Requires Only Three Minutes to Reach a Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The cases of Hamberg and Pilcher, the two real estate men indicted for conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretenses from F. M. Parker, an Oregon farmer, came to a conclusion this morning. The district attorney closed the case for the people, and after an exhaustive charge by the court, the jury retired at noon precisely. After an absence of three minutes the jury filed into the courtroom and announced a verdict of guilty. Defendants accepted their fate with characteristic indifference, their wives, who have been beside them during their long trial, being the only ones to show any signs of emotion. The defense has been one of technicality throughout, and the prisoners evidently think that the resources of the law are not yet exhausted.

TWO FIRES.

Work of an Incendiary at Walla Walla—One Man Burned to Death.

WALLA WALLA, March 13.—Fire broke out simultaneously at 3 o'clock this morning in the Aurora hotel and in a two-story lodging house on Poplar street. At the Aurora a man named Geo. Herold, a farmer, was caught in bed and so badly burned that his life is despaired of. There is no earthly doubt that the fires were the work of an incendiary. The mayor offers a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the incendiary. Both places were burned to the ground. The buildings were fully insured.

THE PENITENTIARY COMMISSIONERS.

WALLA WALLA, March 13.—The board of penitentiary commissioners met and organized to-day: F. J. Parker, president; J. E. Edmiston, secretary; wardens, J. G. Justice and H. G. Tobin; overseers, F. L. Edmiston and Charles Berg; physician, Y. C. Blalock; clerk, A. B. Thompson, of Dayton; guards, H. O'Neil, F. D. Henry, D. Morrell, A. McCorkle, W. Ames, J. H. Hosler, E. Dwyer, and J. S. McCown.

HIS MAMMA WILL HELP HIM.

The Executor of the Harding Estate Coming to Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—Samuel Newman, executor and manager of the estate of the late Samuel C. Harding, and fire commissioner, has gone to Portland, at the request of Mrs. Harding, mother of Charles M. Harding, the San Francisco "blood" who is now in a Portland jail awaiting trial upon a charge of robbery in conjunction with "Pearl" Page, or other accomplices.

SUICIDE OF AN AGED GERMAN.

He Always Wanted to Die with Emperor William.

EUREKA, March 13.—Frederick Schumacher, a native of Germany, 91 years old, committed suicide yesterday after learning of the death of the emperor, by tying a chalk line around his neck and rolling out of bed. He often expressed a wish to die at the same time as the emperor.

A MELANCHOLY FATE.

Rev. Sheldon Jackson, Mrs. Cunningham, and Two Indians Drowned.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 13.—Intelligence was received to-day that Rev. Sheldon Jackson, Mrs. Cunningham and two Indians were drowned in the Skeena river on the 20th of February. Of the party Mark McKay, an Indian, is the sole survivor.

WINTER ON MOUNT HAMILTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—H. E. Mathews, secretary of the Lick trust, who has just returned from Mount Hamilton, says the recent storm set the work of completion back at least two months. Snow fell two feet deep, all the water pipes burst, and the ruggedest sort of winter prevailed.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1888.

A TREATISE ON TRUSTS.

During recent years there have arisen those combinations in trade, known as "trusts." In their present form and management these combinations are quite new—though the monopolistic principles on which they are based are as old as civilization. Formerly monopolies were granted to favorites of royalty on nearly all the necessaries of life; but this system, odious and oppressive as it was, fell short of the effectiveness of the modern trusts. In a speech in the "Long Parliament," Sir John Culpepper said of the monopolies that had been created by the kings of England: "They are a nest of wasps—a swarm of vermin which have overcrept the land. Like the frogs of Egypt, they have gotten possession of our dwellings, and we have scarce a room free from them. They sup in our cup; they dip in our dish; they sit by our fire. We find them in the dye-fat, wash-bowl and powdering tub. They share with the butler in his box. They will not bate us a pin. We may not buy our clothes without their brokage. These are the leeches that have sucked the commonwealth so hard that it is almost hectical." These were among the abuses that cost Charles I. his head.

Of late there has been much discussion of "Trusts" and their tendency. The best thing we have seen of this kind is a pamphlet of about seventy pages, by W. W. Cook, Esq., of the New York board. The author describes a trust as "a combination of many competing concerns under one management, which thereby reduces the cost, regulates the amount of production and increases the price for which the article is sold. It is either a monopoly or an endeavor to establish a monopoly. Its purpose is to make larger profits by decreasing cost, limiting production and increasing the price to the consumer." Thus the trust "is at once a monument to American genius and a symbol of American rapacity." The organization of the trust is "intricate, secret and subtle," and of "a nature calculated to baffle investigation."

The writer examines at some length the modes upon which trusts are organized, their relations to law and to public policy; the powers, duties and liabilities, in the present state of the law, of who are trustees of the "combine," and the future of "trusts" in the coming conflict between them and the people. This discussion he has enriched by citations from all the great law writers and all the judicial decisions that throw light on the subject. He concludes that the one great obstacle which the trust cannot remove or override is that it is "a monopoly, and a combination in restraint of trade," and as such illegal and void. Hence such a trust could make no binding contract. It could no more maintain an action in court than one thief could maintain an action against another thief to recover or enforce a fair division of stolen property. A long line of legal decisions fully sustains the view that the courts would not aid any of the parties to a conspiracy for the commission of any acts injurious to commerce. This is a fixed starting point. From it the people will move against that public robber known as the trust and destroy it. The way is not yet clear, but it will be opened, just as a way was opened of dealing with the railroads, which during forty years were beyond legislative control. "There can be no compromise," says Mr. Cook, "between a monopoly and an Anglo-Saxon people. They never have existed together. The modern 'trust' has yet to meet this tendency of the race. It will go down in the struggle against the instincts, self-reliance and fertile intellect of a race of men who for 500 years have come to no compromise with monopoly."

THE CŒUR D'ALENE RESERVATION.

The board of trade on Monday night passed resolutions, at the instance of Mr. L. S. Shipley, looking to the opening of the Cœur d'Alene Indian reservation or an important modification of its boundary lines. The reservation as it now stands is five times larger than it need be, and includes besides the lands necessary for and valuable to the Indians, large bodies of grazing, timber and mineral lands, and two navigable rivers. Further, it bars the way against proposed and necessary railways connecting the Cœur d'Alene mining district with the seaboard by the direct and natural route. These facts are admitted by the authorities at Washington, the commissioner of Indian affairs having declared officially that the reservation might be curtailed "without detriment."

It is understood that the delay in carrying out the suggestion of the commissioner is due to a proposition to submit a general measure permitting mining on all reservations where gold or precious metals exist. Among the Northwestern reservations proposed to be thus included are the Colville and the Nez Perce. It would seem, in view of the adverse report of the commissioner of Indian affairs in respect to the Colville, made to the secretary of the interior on the 11th ult., that further effort toward the opening of that reservation would be futile. In the case of the Nez Perces it is altogether probable that the same objections would hold good. If the Cœur d'Alene is to wait for an omnibus bill including all these reservations, the outcome seems too far ahead to think about.

To avoid confusion and delay the best policy would be to make the scheme of opening the Cœur d'Alene reservation a specific object; and those who urge it in congress should focus their efforts to the opening of the Cœur d'Alene alone. To this end a special bill should be introduced at once. The financial and business interests of the state and of Portland in the Cœur d'Alene region are very large and constantly growing. Speedy opening of the reservation is greatly desired by and of vast importance to our mining people, and not more to them than to the general business community of Portland and the producers of the country at large.

The mines on the Cœur d'Alene reservation are not the only resources which the measure proposed would bring into immediate value. Mr. Shipley, who has been active in promoting the "re-boundary" scheme, states that the timber and stock-grazing possibilities of the reservation equal, if indeed they do not exceed, the mineral wealth of the area proposed to be opened. The advent of the lumberman, the stockgrower and the miner in the Cœur d'Alene district will speedily enlarge and enrich the volume of general business in the Northwest. It is a field worth extraordinary effort to obtain. It is the duty of our representatives to give their assistance in the matter. This will best be given, judging from present indications, by concentration of effort upon the Cœur d'Alene alone.

MAYOR GATES'S SUGGESTION.

Mr. Gates's plan, as outlined in his letter to the board of trade, for maintaining deep ship channels between Portland and the sea is entirely feasible. His practical experience in the past six years fully warrants the assertion that with a proper boat, fully equipped and ready always when wanted, he can keep the channels down to any depth that may be desired. No other plan so economical and effective has yet been proposed; nor is there any other way by which the work can be done so well and at such small cost.

There is not likely to be any solution of the commercial problems now before the people of Oregon that will not leave the work of maintaining deep water between Portland and the sea, to the citizens of Portland. The laws and private interests, working together, will reform the overcharges at the bar and the abuses practiced in connection with towage and pilotage, but if Portland would retain her status as a port she must make a free channel for ships to her docks. If she does not, ships will load at Astoria or at some other point on the lower river.

Mr. Gates's plan involves a considerable outlay at the beginning, but the plant once secured, it is believed that there would be no further expense. The earnings of the vessel which he proposes to build, would more than pay all charges for operation and repairs.

Henry Bergh, the eccentric philanthropist of New York city, who twenty years ago secured the incorporation of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is dead. Mr. Bergh carried on this work for years in face of derision, opposition and obloquy; but long before his death he had won over the whole public to his side, and he had no warmer friend and supporter than the owners of dray horses, car horses, hack lines, etc., who soon found out that their stock was secure from abuse by their employes because of Mr. Bergh and the constables of his society. Out of Mr. Bergh's initial efforts grew no less than ninety humane societies in every part of the Union, each having many branches. Thirty of these societies have dealt since their organization with the cases of 130,000 cruelly treated animals and 110,000 cruelly treated children.

RESPECTFULLY REFERRED.

The abuses attending the shipment of sailors at Astoria are so serious that Capt. Allan Noyes declares our port to be "a stink in the nostrils of the commercial world." Having sailed the seas for many years, visiting all parts of the world, he declares that there is no other place where so much lying and force is used to take men from vessels. "It is a disgrace," he adds, "to the whole river and state that we have done nothing to stop this piracy." Referring to the same abuse, Mr. Laidlaw, the British vice-consul, declares that "Astoria is the very worst place on the face of the globe in this respect." It is openly asserted that the local courts at Astoria are in full partnership with those who persecute sailors, and that "half of the grand jury is composed of this obnoxious element."

These are serious charges, and they are made by men of character and standing. If they are true, and unquestionably they are true, a system of actual piracy is practiced at Astoria, and with the help of the officers of the law. Hon. Thomas A. McBride of Oregon City, a man both capable and honest, is the prosecuting officer for the state for the district which includes Astoria. To him these charges are respectfully referred. It is his duty to go to Astoria, to probe this matter to the bottom, and to lay upon these abuses the strong hand of the law. If he finds it impossible to enforce a reform, through the complicity of the grand jury in the alleged abuses, then let the facts be known. It is, we believe, within the authority of the court to dissolve such a grand jury, but if it is not, the people of Astoria will find a way to do it.

Judge Gresham talks sensibly. To one who proposed to him that he might be a candidate for the presidency, he said:

> There is no agony like that of destroyed hope or ambition. Go out among men and pick out those who are miserable and who are they? The men who allowed themselves to believe that they were entitled to something better than what they got. I know men who will be wretched as long as they live, simply because they were ambitious and failed. I want none of it. Life is too short for us to make ourselves wretched by any process. I want no fanciful ambition. I want to spend my old age in peace, firm in the conviction that I did as near right as I could.

An election for members of the new democratic city committee was held in Philadelphia on the 5th inst., and the Randall element of the party had an actual majority in the committees of sixteen out of the thirty-one wards in the city, and there was a fair chance for dispute as to which faction controlled the committees of two other wards. Reading Randall out of the party is a big contract for Cleveland.

The attempt to pass a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor in the District of Columbia has proved a failure and now the prohibitionists want the federal government to appropriate $100,000 to build a Temperance Home and expect in that event that congress would annually appropriate money enough to pay its running expenses.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

SHOULD BE LOOKED UP.—The case of John Martin, accused of stealing a horse from Charles Clayson, the keeper of a stable on Front and Salmon streets, was dismissed yesterday in the police court. It seems that although Martin did not show up after borrowing the horse, the horse did, being brought back a day or so afterwards by some stockman, who had found the animal straying out in the country. Constable Hill, of Albina, took charge of Martin as soon as he was dismissed. He is wanted in Albina for taking a horse and buggy last summer and driving out to Lafayette. He left the rig at a stable and then disappeared. A number of just such stories are told of Martin. He don't seem to try and sell or make away with the horses, but seems to have a penchant for hiring livery rigs and going off for an all day ride leaving the outfit wherever he happens to wind up at. One story is told of him that he hired a buggy and a span of horses and drove them until they dropped in the road and were afterwards found dead. He is, to say the least, a kleptomaniac.

STAGE ROUTE TO RUBY CITY.—Fred R. Reed, superintendent of the Yakima & Salmon River Road and Ferry Company, running from North Yakima to Ruby City, arrived in Portland yesterday. He states that the company have recently purchased the steam ferry Rattler, heretofore stationed at Columbus, on the Columbia river, which will be run up the river to Priest rapids, where it will be employed to transfer passengers and freight on the company's route. Regular stages will be run from North Yakima to the ferry, a distance of twenty six miles, and from there on via the White Bluff stage road to the second crossing of the Columbia, at the mouth of Foster creek, fifty five miles, thence on up the Okanagan river to Ruby City forty three miles. First-class passenger coaches are on the line, and all facilities for transporting freight and express matter in a short time at reasonable rates have been made by the company.

REPORTED CUT IN FREIGHT RATES.—An unofficial report has been received from St. Paul that the Northern Pacific will shortly reduce freight rates from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Helena, M T, about 25 per cent on all classes. The reductions will be made, it is said, to enable the Helena merchants to do a larger jobbing business than heretofore, but the real cause for making the cut is attributed to a desire of the Northern to meet a recent reduction on the part of the Manitoba line. The rates now in force from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Helena are $2, $1, $1 75, $1 50, $1 30, $1 25, $1, and 90, 80 and 70 cents, according to class. The same rates are in effect from Portland to Helena, and they will be reduced if those from St. Paul and Minneapolis are, as it is the custom to make the rates from Eastern and Pacific coast terminals to Helena uniform.

SOLD WHISKY TO AN INDIAN.—Deputy U. S. Marshal Roberts arrested Mike Amarasche, a saloon keeper on the corner of Front and Salmon streets yesterday, charged with selling liquor to a Grand Ronde Indian, one John Sam. Amarasche had a hearing before United States Commissioner Lamson yesterday, and was bound over in the sum of $500 to appear for his trial. John Sam was committed to the county jail to insure his presence as prosecuting witness. On being searched two bottles of proof whisky were found in his pocket and he had a two-gallon load on board. The chances are that John becoming obstreperous, was ejected from Amarasche's saloon, and thinking himself misused, he straightway lodged a complaint.

ORE IN BETTER DEMAND.—Mr. Van B. DeLashmutt returned from San Francisco yesterday. He had a long talk with A. J. Ralston, president of the Selby Smelting Works, in regard to shipping Coeur d'Alene ores to San Francisco. Some of these ores, such as that from the Sierra Nevada mine are particularly desired in San Francisco, but the only way open to securing them is for the parties desiring them to raise the price. If the same rates could be obtained from Cœur d'Alene to Portland as are charged from there to Wickes, concentrates could be sold in San Francisco so as to afford miners about $10 a ton more profit. Ores are in much better demand and bring about $4 per ton more than they did two months ago.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The delayed west bound train, due here at 8 o'clock last night, says the East Oregonian, came in this forenoon at 11 30, being sixteen and a half hours late. The delay was on the Short Line, caused by running into a band of cattle. Then a couple of trucks got off the track near Nampa, Idaho, and lastly, a hand car was run into in coming down the mountain this morning, causing considerable delay. The train was made up of three emigrant sleepers, two first-class sleepers and the mail and express cars. The sleeper from the Walla Walla branch which laid here all night was taken on here. Just as the train was pulling out a coupling next the engine broke, causing a slight delay.

CRIMINAL MATTERS.—Yesterday Judge Stearns denied the motion for a new trial for Wm. R. Daly, convicted of feloniously assaulting Miss Ada Drouet, and sentenced him to the penitentiary for one year. Judge Stearns reviewed the numerous affidavits which have been filed, and thought they revealed no new evidence. He believed that Miss Drouet was not aware of the nature of the affidavit exculpating Daly when she signed it and thought her second recanting the previous one was true. The case will be appealed to the supreme court. Al. Herron who pleaded guilty of larceny in a dwelling, and Al Frazier who robbed J Delmeter of a watch chain were sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

TO BE TORN DOWN.—An office for the accommodation of Mr George Loderle, engineer in charge of the construction of the railroad bridge, has been fitted up in the south end of the Ainsworth dock, and the old commissary building in which his office has been located is to be torn down to make room for the approach to the bridge. This building is an old landmark having been built early in the sixties for a distillery. It was run by Capt J W Buchanan for about six months in the year up to 1869. It was then used for a few years as a warehouse and since that time has been the commissary building of the O R & N Co. The walls are badly cracked and it is high time it was taken down. The work of demolition has already been commenced.

ANOTHER BIRD ADDED TO OUR FAUNA.—Among other delicacies imported by the Chinese from their native land is a species of quail about the size of a robin. They are pretty little things, but it would take several of them to make a meal for a hungry man. Mr Frank Dekum has purchased a lot of these birds to send up to Judge Waldo's farm, in the Waldo hills, Marion county. There are a few of the little fellows there now which are quite tame, and come out of the bushes to eat with the chickens. Judge Waldo has some Mongolian pheasants and some Bob White quail on his farm, and as shooting is not allowed around there they are thriving, and in other respects are doing quite well."

SALE OF SMUGGLED OPIUM.—A lot of opium, 160 five-tael boxes in all, was sold at public auction yesterday morning at the bonded warehouse. It was sold in four separate lots, the price ranging from $12 to $12 45. There were also two trunks and wearing apparel, belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Minor, the female smuggler from the Sound. The man who bought the property paid $6 for it and a few minutes later another man, claiming to be a brother-in-law of the woman, came along and bought it from him, paying $10.

AND IT WAS LOADED.—A few days ago Martin Young, who lives at Andrew Johnson's place, on Young's river, Clatsop county, was cleaning his pistol when the aforesaid was accidentally discharged, the bullet, as usual, taking effect. It hit him in the palm of the hand, ranging upward through the wrist and forearm from whence it was deftly extracted Monday morning. Young is nursing his lame hand very patiently and will take pains to see that the next pistol he attempts to clean is not loaded.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.—The suit of H Swift Jr vs M F Mulkey and Wm Lair Hill was on trial before Judge Stearns yesterday afternoon. It was an action of ejectment to recover possession of sixty acres of land near Columbia slough. The property was sold under execution to R. Henry from whom defendants purchased it nearly twenty years ago. Swift avers that he inherited the property from his parents. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendants.

CASE DISMISSED.—The case of James N Green accused of timber cutting on public lands was dismissed yesterday in the United States circuit court on a motion from the district attorney. The motion to dismiss was no doubt the result of a former decision of Judge Deady's in a similar case. Green claims that he took the land on a homestead claim. He no doubt cut and sold the timber to some mill men but he afterwards filed on the land and bought it.

A HOLYDAY.—To-day is a holyday not in the literal sense of the word but constituted so by virtue of the extraordinary beautiful attractions which are offered to the public this morning by Messrs Meilis & Co. It is the first day of their spring millinery opening. A veritable fairy display is promised and it is safe to assert that crowds of ladies will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the establishment in its spring habiliments.

BARNS BURNED.—From Mr David B Scott of Fox Valley, who is in the city as a juryman from that precinct, it is learned that two barns, owned by John Heighsic, were burned at that place Thursday night says an Albany paper. One of the barns was a large new structure and contained forty tons of hay. No one was on the premises when the fire occurred and its origin cannot be accounted for. Neither one of the barns were insured.

WHEAT STANDARDS.—At the board of trade meeting Monday evening President Macleay was empowered to appoint a committee of grain exporters to form standards of Oregon and Walla Walla wheat and send samples to the Liverpool Corn Trade Association. Yesterday Mr Macleay appointed the committee as follows: C. Caesar & Co., Balfour, Guthrie & Co. Portland Shipping Company.

TABERNACLE ORDERED OFF.—The Tabernacle Company have been notified to remove their building. It is understood that Grace church is having plans prepared for a church to be erected soon on the lot now occupied by the Tabernacle. It is to be regretted that the building is to be torn down and the city thus deprived of a suitable place for large public gatherings. If possible the Tabernacle should be removed to some other location.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING.—An adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Portland Cable railway will be held to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Ainsworth National Bank. It is important that there should be a full attendance to take action on the report from the committee who have returned from San Francisco, and such other business as will come before the meeting.

DIRECTORS ELECTED.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Portland Reduction Works held yesterday, the following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: W S Ladd, S. G. Reed, James Steel, Charles F. Powell, James Lotan, F J Carrel, W A Jones.

NO PLACE LIKE OREGON.—Readers of THE OREGONIAN yesterday morning must have felt thankful that they lived in Oregon instead of New York. Here, instead of the deadly blizzard, we have the balmy south wind and bright, warm sunshine, with leaves expanding, buds bursting, flowers blooming and birds singing. Despite all slanders, Oregon has without doubt the best climate of any state in the Union, and all chronic growlers and unacclimated tenderfeet will do well to make a note of the fact.

SAME OLD STORY.—In the state circuit court yesterday, Christina Mattsdatter Koarakka sued John J. Koarakka for a divorce and the custody of their two minor children. They were married in Klickitat county, W T, in August, 1884. Plaintiff alleges that her husband has treated her cruelly and inhumanly, failed to provide for her and has become enamored of other women.

THE HATCHERY CHANGES HANDS.—The stockholders of the Oregon & Washington Fish Propagating Company held a meeting Monday evening and passed a resolution directing the president and directors to turn over their hatchery on the Clackamas river to the United States fish commission for a nominal sum. The hatchery will be transferred in a few days.

WANTS HIS GOODS.—The suit of H. E. Dunway vs C E Angell was on trial in state circuit court No. 1 yesterday. Plaintiff seeks to recover certain goods and chattels unlawfully taken by defendants, and in case delivery can not be made he asks judgment for $900, the value of the goods and $100 damages. The trial will be resumed this morning.

HECTOR NOT COMING.—A telegram received from Rev J. H. Hector, the colored orator announces that on account of sickness he is compelled to cancel all engagements. He will not, therefore, lecture to-night in Y. M. C. A. hall.

IN NEW YORK.—Mr. D. Solis Cohen of Cohen Davis & Co., left for New York recently. He carries large orders for campaign goods and will have on sale a complete line suitable for political clubs and demonstrations.

SOCIAL.—The ladies of Taylor street church will give one of their pleasant socials this evening. Admission 10 cents.

SWEET SONGSTERS.

LARGE NUMBERS OF NIGHTINGALES, SKY LARKS, FINCHES, STARLINGS, ETC., TO BE BROUGHT HERE FROM GERMANY.

Some time since an OREGONIAN reporter seeing that a figure of a stork in Baum & Brandes' window attracted a great deal of attention, ventured the suggestion that some of our citizens of German birth send to the fatherland for a few storks to be turned loose here. The suggestion bore fruit for Mr. Frank Dekum at once said he would contribute $250 toward importing birds from Germany here. It was found to be impracticable to bring storks as they are scarce and would cost $60 to $70 per pair, and would be difficult to transport, and probably difficult to acclimate, and as so few would be brought they would be liable to die off or to migrate and forget to come back. It was thought better to import some of the numerous varieties of singing birds which are so plentiful in Germany as Oregon for some reason is very poor in such birds. Outside of the robin and meadow lark which have some sweet notes, but can hardly be considered to possess sustained powers of song, this coast cannot boast of any song birds, worth the name. The matter was taken in hand by Mr. C P Pfluger, and about $1600 has been subscribed by citizens of German birth. Arrangements have been completed with a party in the Hartz forest to secure a number of nightingales, skylarks, bullfinches, chaffinches goldfinches, greenfinches, black and gray thrushes linnets, starlings and other singing birds, in all between 600 and 700. They will be caught during the coming summer and fall and will arrive here next spring, when they will be turned loose in such places in this city and vicinity as the subscribers to the fund may decide in time to nest and raise their young. The greater number will migrate in the fall, but it is considered certain that they will return here in the spring, as it is a habit of all such birds to return to the place where they were raised. The gentlemen who carry out this plan will be entitled to the lasting gratitude of the citizens of the state and the sweet songs of the birds will keep their memories green till the end of time. At the next legislature a bill will probably be passed to protect these birds. It is likely that there are many who have not yet subscribed to this fund who will wish to do so. The party who brings out these birds will return home by way of Panama, and will take with him a general assortment of parrots, paroquets and any other tropical birds he can procure, also a lot of monkeys.

MORE HATCHERIES NEEDED.

THE FISH COMMISSIONERS LOOKING FOR A SUITABLE SITE FOR A STATE SALMON HATCHERY.

Although the Oregon and Washington Fish Propagating Company have turned over the Clackamas hatchery to the United States fish commission, the state is in nowise relieved from all responsibility in the matter. The commissioners contend that three hatcheries are necessary to the demands of the Northwest. The state should support one and Washington territory another. Prof. Stone is now at Spokane Falls investigating the feasibility of locating one of the hatcheries there. This task of finding a suitable location seems to be by far the most difficult one the commissioners have met with so far. The streams most desirable are the cold snow streams, the fish are in such waters longer and can therefore be handled to better advantage. When they begin to come up the river they pass by a number of streams, and seem to be heading only for the cold waters. Later in the year they of course run into all the tributaries of the Columbia. The Clackamas so far seems to be the best, the water is cold and the run is consequently longer and larger than any other stream. The Des Chutes river east of the mountains is clear and cold, but is so rough and wild that it would be an expensive undertaking to handle fish on it. The water sometimes rises ten or twenty feet during the summer. It would of course be impossible to build a fish rack in such a stream, as it would be carried out two or three times a year. Spokane Falls would be a good point if land could be purchased cheap enough. The falls of the river would save the expense of a fish rack at this place. Gray's river, the Cowlitz, Lewis river and a number of other streams that to the ordinary man would seem to be just the place for hatcheries are totally unfit for the purpose. The water is so warm that the run of salmon is late and of short duration. The Yakima river is under consideration as being perhaps a good point. The Santiam though cold and having a large run of fish, is undesirable, because the chinook do not yet get above the Oregon City falls, only the steel head and silver side salmon making the run. Work on the rack at the Clackamas hatchery has been suspended for the present, the recent warm rains having caused a rise of two or three feet in the river.

MINING MEN IN TOWN

H S Gregory a heavy mine owner of the Cœur d'Alenes, is camping at the Holton.

Dr L. B Whitehouse, of Spokane arrived yesterday at the Esmond via steamer from San Diego on his way home.

John McConnel an old time Nevada miner who has superintended the opening up of the Sierra Nevada mine in the Cœur d'Alenes is stopping at the St Charles.

W. H. Jackson who is opening up the Central mine situated two miles above Mullen on the South Fork, in the Cœur d'Alenes for Moore & Sweet who have the property bonded, is at the St Charles.

James F Wardner who was the principal man in bringing the Cœur d'Alene mines "out" and convincing outsiders of their richness, is at the Esmond, down from Spokane with some fine specimens from the new Kootenai strike.

J. G. Scoby formerly of this city, and Don Sullivan, whom the Sullivan mine in the Cœur d'Alenes was named after arrived on yesterday's steamer from San Francisco on their way to the Cœur d'Alenes to look after their numerous mining interests there.

PORTLAND AND ALBINA: PRESENT AND FUTURE.

PORTLAND, March 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I read carefully the interview your reporter had with Mr Killingsworth concerning Albina and published in THE OREGONIAN of March 6, inst. The statements therein contained I believe are correct, and it must be apparent to business men that as goes Portland, so goes Albina and vice versa. Portland with her wonderful business and wealth and Albina with her certain to-be immense pay rolls, are the two sides, with other influences building this now great city, and assuring it to be the greatest city on the Pacific coast, as it now is in proportion to her population the best and greatest in North America. A fine steel bridge is now building, and others are to be built connecting Albina and Portland. The beautiful plateaus back of Albina will be rapidly sought by our wealthy and tasty people for their magnificent homes due to the advantages of drainage ventilation and view. It is confidently expected that the time is close at hand when Albina and Portland will be under one city government and all will be Portland the entrepot and depot of the north west.

Portland needs no man's eulogy, but it might be proper to call attention of the people who have not given the subject proper study that by consulting a correct map of this Western country they will find some of the waters of the state of Nevada, the territories of Utah, Idaho, Montana all of Eastern Washington and most of Oregon, flows by Portland's door, converging in the three navigable rivers of the Snake, the Columbia and the Willamette, three great rivers that drain a watershed whose area is over 500 000 square miles of territory, and are the arteries, the natural lines that will conduct the resources of this vast country (more than backs any city in North America) to the sea and the world's markets. Shipowners all over the world regard the fresh water haul for ships up the Columbia to Portland large money in their pockets in scouring the vessels and clearing the barnacles that cling to their hulls and making it unnecessary to put them in dry docks at large expense.

Speaking of dry docks, if it is necessary to use them for repairing or cleaning vessels already Albina has over $150 000 expended to prepare for such work, and will invite all the Pacific ocean tramps to come to Albina for repairs which she will be able to make from keel to the top of their masts.

The owners of vessels very naturally study the dangers of navigation and referring to the marine loss on the Pacific coast we find that a larger number of the vessels lost north of San Francisco have been lost north of the Columbia river, notwithstanding that a large majority of all vessels doing business in North America on the Pacific coast have either entered the Golden Gate to San Francisco or come into the Columbia river for Portland, and I think it can be truthfully said that few if any were ever lost at the entrance of the Columbia river wherein the cause was not due to ignorance, carelessness or intent to get insurance, as is supposed by some to have been the case with the beaching of the Great Republic.

Portland is claimed to be in proportion to population the third richest city on the globe, comparisons are Frankfort-on-the-Main, the money center of Germany, and Hartford, Connecticut, the insurance center of the United States. Third is Portland, Oregon, the rich and magnificent city of these western shores, and, in obedience to the proverb that "where commerce lights there she builds her nest," her magnificent destiny is assured. Were all resources cut off in every direction except Western Oregon and the country immediately surrounding her, she would then have more territory than the size of England and better than the same area of territory anywhere on the globe with unlimited elements of wealth and never failing crops, unequalled climate and varied productions.

The mining interests now being developed in Southern Oregon, Baker county, Wood river, Cœur d'Alene and Colville districts are undoubtedly the richest and most extensive mines ever discovered. These mines are mostly owned by citizens of Portland, and they ought and will ultimately make Portland the greatest mining center in the world.

Portland is 112 miles inland, situate on the Willamette and upon her docks you can say "How do" to the globe. In looking over the world we find many of the great cities to be inland, to-wit Liverpool, the commercial center of Europe is inland with twenty five to thirty miles of stone docks upon the river Mersey, whose channel has been artificially dug to the sea. London the most populous city in the civilized world is situate inland on the Thames. Philadelphia with a population numbering about 1,000 000 is inland on the Delaware river and many other great cities might be mentioned. Glasgow, the manufacturing center of Scotland and one of the largest ship building cities in the world, is inland on the Clyde, a river that less than a century ago could scarcely pass a small fishing boat but to-day the largest ships afloat can easily and safely reach that city. So it is last but not least, Portland, Or. is also inland, with access to the greatest and grandest river in the world, with easy and safe dockage, exempt from winds and dangerous tides, and from a military point of view is as secure from hostile invasion as Gibraltar. The main forces contributing to the development of cities are the mechanics and laboring people, and the growth of cities is proportionate to the amount of money paid these people. Upon investigation we learn that a pay roll of $30,000 per month is sufficient to support a population of 4500 people. Now, the plant is already in Albina in conjunction with the terminal facilities of Portland, if worked to its capacity, whose pay roll would show from $70,000 to $100,000 distributed every thirty days to the laboring people of Portland and Albina which will soon result in an increased population in Portland and Albina of from 10 000 to 15 000 prosperous people, and that population will make a city of all the country adjacent to and lying back of Albina between the Willamette and Columbia rivers. That this district will soon be traversed by street car and dummy lines good assurances are now given.

Ready-made Clothing.

The Suits which we manufacture for this department are made for the express purpose of supplying the wants of gentlemen who believing that the best is the cheapest are willing to pay a fair price for garments that have been made from carefully selected thoroughly tested honest material and by skillful full gent, well paid labor.

Prudent people deal with us knowing that the prices we put on our goods are considering quality, always the lowest. They know also, that we put before them no old stock but strictly new goods in their season.

Spring Suits

Although we have had but little real spring weather as yet our sales of Light Weight Suits have surpassed our greatest expectations, compelling us to telegraph East for immediate supplies. This is not so surprising when you consider that our display this spring has never been equaled in the Northwest for Elegance and Quality, while prices are lower than ever before.

Some men usually have poor luck in finding ready made clothing to fit. They come in here with an expression of incredulity as they say "Let's see those Spring Overcoats or Suits you advertise." The expression becomes one of satisfaction the moment the gentleman beholds in a mirror how perfectly the garments fit, and he is at once convinced that he can get of us just what he wants in the way of a Spring Suit or Light weight Overcoat.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING
EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.

By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins by grocers, labelled thus:

Some anxiety is expressed as to the effect of the new regulations concerning the coinage of silver dollars in Mexico. For some years the Mexican government has farmed out its coinage to private parties and protected them in their business by the imposition of a tax of 9 per cent on all the bullion exported from the country. After the 1st of May the government will execute its own coin and reduce the bullion export to 3 per cent. There are some fourteen private mints now in operation in Mexico. These mints turn out about $26,000,000 annually. About one third of this amount annually passes through San Francisco en route to China. There is considerable business in the handling of this coin in that city. It is now feared the contemplated change may result in a greater outflow of bullion from Mexico and less coin. The Chinese prefer to make shipments in coin rather than bullion.

Albina Schools—Special Council Meeting—Meeting of the Democratic Club

The sixth month of the Albina school closed March 9 with but a single case of corporal punishment and only one of tardiness. The percentage of attendance for the month has been 91 [illegible]. The presence of measles and the results of vaccination have necessarily kept many children out of school from one to three weeks greatly to their detriment. But they are beginning to come back and within a few weeks all the school rooms will be crowded again. The library is still a very popular institution the book most eagerly sought for being Uncle Tom's Cabin. The banners for neatest and cleanest room [illegible] tardiness and best percentage of attendance [illegible] anxiously worked for and greatly prized by the rooms obtaining them.

NOTES.

Wood is selling at from $3 50 to $4 a cord in East Portland.

Wm Burdin has gone to Yaquina to remain permanently.

C E Hoyt, of Fairview is in the city at the Russell house.

A Kirkland and family of this city have moved east of the mountains.

An entertainment was given in the W C T U hall last night by the ladies of that institution.

The small engine that will be used to swing the massive draw of the railroad bridge has been received.

The democratic club will meet in Hall & Stott's hall on the corner of Fourth and J streets this evening.

Job Angel of this city has a proposition to go east of the mountains to build a flouring mill in the Wallowa valley.

The telegraph office of the Postal Telegraph Company has been discontinued in East Portland, it proving more of an expense than a source of income.

There will be a special meeting of the common council this evening to consider the wharf line ordinance and such other business as may come up for transaction.

Hon. E G Hursh who has resided in this city for the past winter has gone to Baker City to begin the publication of a republican paper called the Oregon Blade.

Mr and Mrs. L. Nicolai will leave for their tour through Europe to-morrow. They will be absent about four months. Monday evening a number of their friends met at Mr. Nicolai's residence and gave them a pleasant farewell reception.

James Guilfoyle, foreman of the work of excavation for the railroad curve, denies that there was a man injured by the discharge of a blast, as was stated yesterday. The item complained of was based on information derived from several workmen who claimed to have witnessed the accident, and was supposed to be entirely correct. However, it seems from the statement of the foreman that there must be some mistake. It is true that every precaution is taken to prevent accidents when the blasting is being done.

Capt. Van Auken, who has been night captain of the Stark street ferry for many years, will probably take charge of Vancouver ferry about the 1st of April. He has made many friends since he has been in charge, who will regret to see him go elsewhere. His successor has not been named as yet.

The street car line is completed across the bridge as far as the draw. It will be extended to the office of the bridge company on the west side. The tracks will be laid at the headquarters of the company on N street so that the cars can be taken out. The horses that will be used on the line will be taken out and driven so they will become used to the track.

IN MEMORIAM.

The remains of Mr Rudolph Lundblad were conveyed yesterday morning to their final resting place in Greenwood cemetery, and laid side by side with a departed sister.

Mr Lundblad has been a resident of Oregon for about eighteen years, the latter ten of which were spent in Portland. The writer of this has been intimately acquainted with him since his arrival on this coast, and always found him to be a man of sterling integrity, strictly honest in all his dealings, a kind and affectionate husband and father, and always ready to extend a helping hand to people when called upon to do so. He had only been ailing a few days, and being a man of fine physique and exemplary habits it was therefore a great shock to his many friends when they received the intelligence of his sudden demise. The large concourse of friends who paid the last tribute of affection to his memory evidenced thereby the high esteem in which he was held by them. Sleep well, old and faithful friend.

THE STAGE.

Another good house greeted the Juvenile opera company in "The Mikado" last night. The public seem to never tire of the music and humor of this very popular opera. The little folks were at their best last evening, and their performance ran much smoother than on the opening night. The "three little maids," Ko-Ko and Katisha received numerous encores. Master Teddy Gamble has established himself as the best Ko-Ko we have had, and for one so very young he is a very clever little comedian. "The Mikado" will be given only to-night and to-morrow night. Friday evening "Olivette" will be produced, with new costumes, etc. "Olivette" will also be given at the matinee Saturday.

CALIFORNIA.

MEXICAN COINAGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The Mexican government, having decided to resume the coinage of silver dollars is contemplating the removal of the 9 per cent. export duty on bullion with which it protected the interests of private parties who have hitherto executed coinage. There are at present some fourteen private mints in Mexico, by which $25,000,000 is annually turned out. The Mexican dollar is a medium of exchange in China, and large quantities of them are imported by banks, as well as by Chinese merchants, who pay with them for goods purchased in China. About one-third the entire amount carried passes through San Francisco and is handled by merchants and brokers here.

DOLPH'S COAST DEFENSE BILL.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13—Editorially this evening's Bulletin says "It is to be hoped that Dolph's bill providing for coast defense, which has been favorably reported to the senate will become a law, rather than the house bill. Dolph's measure is adequate and definite. It lays out a complete scheme and provides for its execution within a certain time at a certain rate of progress, while the house bill merely appropriates a sum for starting the work, without any definite plan in view and with no assurance that the work commenced under it will be completed."

ELLENSBURG NOTES.

ELLENSBURG, W. T., March 10

New residences are going up all over the city.

The baseball and fishing seasons have just commenced.

There is not a vacant building in the city, the last being rented on Tuesday.

The hotels are at present crowded with strangers who come to take in Kittitas valley and its surroundings.

Miners are outfitting for the Salmon river mines and the Swauk every day. Three going out on Saturday.

Two bachelors, whose names could not be learned, were burned out near the N P. roundhouse on Friday morning.

The fire boys were out for a drill on Friday afternoon, and the way they handled the machine made the oldest Ellensburg citizen "smile."

Mr L. D Drake, of Dayton, W. T., is in town, with a view of erecting one of the finest opera houses in Central Washington if a suitable site can be obtained.

Ellensburg Fire Co. No 1 organized Thursday evening with about thirty-five members. The following officers were elected: A. Mires, president, I. B Kauffman, secretary, Edward Dickson, treasurer, William McGuire, foreman, Z. F Hickman, first assistant foreman. Charles Dickson, second assistant foreman. The company meets regularly on Thursday evening of each week at the council chamber.

The contract has been let to John Holland, of Portland, to build the new steamer City of Ellensburg, to ply between a point on this side of the Columbia and a point near the mines. She will have steel boilers and machinery of the most powerful kind, and will be able to carry 100 tons. The machinery is being built in Seattle especially for her, and will be ready to put in early next month. The lumber is nearly all on the ground, with the exception of the natural crooks for knees, which have been purchased in Portland and will be shipped to Kennewick this week. Mr. Holland will give his personal attention to the building of this vessel, and guarantees to have her riding the noble waters of the Columbia by May 1.

THE CASE OF AUGUST ANDERSON.

VANCOUVER, March 10

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

In this morning's issue of your paper I notice a report concerning the case of August Anderson, in which the writer not only conceals facts but misstates and perverts them. Young Anderson was charged with "assault with intent to commit rape" on a 6-year-old girl, punishable with from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary. It was deemed advisable by the boy's uncle and myself, acting as his appointed counsel, to offer a plea of guilty of simple assault, which plea at first was neglected by the prosecuting attorney but afterwards accepted, principally on account of the youth of the defendant. At this time there was on one side the boy's affirmance of innocence, while on the other was the action and report of the grand jury, and the danger—to say the least of it—of conviction and sentence to the penitentiary for a term of years was by that plea averted to six months' sentence in the county jail.

THE LIQUOR TAX.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution makes this argument for the repeal of all the United States liquor taxes, and says that an overwhelming majority of the Southern people favor such repeal.

The liquor tax levied by the United States is the most formidable of all obstacles to temperance reform. It has banded and unified the liquor traffic throughout the United States. It has extended its arteries from Maine to Texas and California. Who ever heard of a liquor dealers' association before the civil war. The internal revenue system is the foundation stone upon which rests the whole associated power of liquor. Under it the doggeries and bar rooms of the olden time have grown into the elegant, alluring saloons of the present. Legislatures and congress have gone down upon their bellies before this gian and humbly promised to do his bidding. Propose to enforce prohibition in Maine or Kansas, and the dominant party is put upon notice that New York Indiana and other doubtful states will be turned over to the democrats. Vote upon a prohibitory amendment in Texas or Tennessee and the democrats are told that the doubtful states shall be given to the republicans. State sovereignty under this internal revenue system is impossible.

Grant and Gresham.

Washington Letter to Boston Advertiser

There is more or less of the Grant type about Gresham. Grant, in fact, was the man to give Gresham his first federal place. The way it came about is worth telling. An Indiana republican was at the White House one day during the silent man's first term. The president turned to him and said "Isn't there a man in your state named Gresham who was in the army?"

"I remember him very well," said Grant "he can have anything he wants"

It was not long before the president found out that he was a good lawyer, and offered him a United States district judgeship by telegraph, not a soul having made the recommendation. Gresham accepted. The act was one of impulse, such as the appointee himself often had a trick of performing.

OFFICIAL BRUTALITY.

Startling Disclosures Made in an Arkansas Convict Camp.

ST LOUIS, March 12.—Report says startling developments have been brought to light at Coal Hill, one of the mining towns where the mines are worked by convict labor, near Fort Smith, Ark. A negro convict named Williams was flogged to death, and further inquiry developed the fact that Moses Harvey, a white man aged 35 years, had been kicked to death by a fellow-convict, who had been urged on to the desperate deed by Warden Grafford, and it was learned that he was in the habit of making prisoners fight. The body of Mark Elder was exhumed, and bruises and gashes on the body indicate a violent death. It was also developed that a prisoner named Hummel was tied up to a post in the mines last summer and beaten to death. As the investigation continues more horrible details are revealed, and the citizens of Coal Hill are excited and threaten to hang Grafford and tear down the prison barracks.

STARVING INDIANS.

An Uprising Threatened Unless the Miserable Creatures are Fed

WINNIPEG, Man., March 12—For some weeks alarming reports have been received here from the west that Indians are very restless owing to the neglect of the government in furnishing supplies, and that there was serious danger of an uprising unless food was at once forwarded. The mounted police claim to be prepared to put down any revolt, but at the same time admit that there will be trouble unless immediate attention is given. Half-breeds at Batouche are in constant communication with Gabriel Dumont in New York, and in a recent letter he is understood to have advised them to secure food by pillage, rather than submit to slow starvation. His people had half a crop of barley this year, but they were obliged to burn it and eat it. Settlers in the Northwest territory are considerably alarmed.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

PITTSBURG, March 12.—In answer to repeated requests for a ruling as to the method of electing congressional district delegates to the next republican convention, B. F Jones, chairman of the national republican committee, who, believing that the action of the republican national convention of 1884 is so plain as to require no ruling, has sent out the following letter. It will be noted that it simply repeats the action of the convention of 1884 on this point, which action was embodied in the call for the convention of 1888, under action of the national republican convention of 1884. (See official proceedings, page 82.) "Whatever has been the manner of nominating members of congress in any district is the manner in which congressional delegates, representing that district, must be chosen."

ARRIVAL OF A GREAT LIBRARY.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The steamship Galileo, which arrived from England Saturday, brought the library of Professor Leopold Von Ranke, which was purchased from the great historian's heirs, about a year ago, for the Methodist university at Syracuse. There are upward of 50,000 volumes in it, and they are packed in eighty-three boxes. Though historical works comprise the larger part of the library, it also contains rare and valuable volumes on almost every branch of literature, and is especially complete in its representations of the great authors and thinkers of the fatherland.

A TRIPLE MURDER MYSTERY.

FINDLAY, O., March 12.—Rudolph Heller was found in a dying condition in his house this afternoon, with his wife and 18-months-old baby lying dead by his side. It was first thought the family had been suffocated by natural gas, but this theory was exploded, as they had their clothes on. It is now believed to be either suicide or murder. The mystery will probably never be cleared away, as Heller is unconscious and can not recover.

CHAMBERLAIN TALKS ABOUT THE TREATY.

LONDON, March 12—In an interview Chamberlain, referring to the fisheries treaty, said the republican senate might not be willing to allow the present democratic government to get the credit of framing a successful treaty, but he did not believe the senate would now take the immense responsibility of rejecting the treaty. He anticipated, as with the extradition treaty, that the senate would postpone the fisheries treaty until after the presidential election. He did not doubt, however, even if the treaty should be rejected, that the settlement now arrived at would be the settlement ultimately selected.

ROSEBURG NOTES.

Roseburg Review

The district clerk, Thomas L. Cannon, in his annual report, reported 422 children between the ages of 4 and 20 in this district. Of these [illegible] were enrolled in the public school of our city during the past year.

Judge Mosher has been appointed a committee of one to write the history of Southern Oregon. No one can do this work better than he. The judge is a trenchant as well as a correct writer, and his style is always pleasing.

Our annual school meeting took place on last Monday. D W Stearns was elected trustee. A tax of 1 mill was voted for the purpose of better furnishing and insuring the school building. Hon. John H Shupe was re-elected by acclamation.

Tramps are growing alarmingly numerous, and unless something is done to prevent it tramping the country will soon be overrun with this pilfering, lying, begging element that is such a shame to common decency and annoyance to all respectable people.

One night last week some one entered Mr Frank Buel's smoke house on Deer creek and took twelve pieces of meat. Not being satisfied with this he went to Mr Anderson's, about one-half mile from there, and stole a pot to cook his meat in, besides taking all the tools he could find.

Captain J L Roy, of Coquille City, in a letter to a gentleman in Roseburg, says that the recent "high water" rose to the floors of some of the houses along Coquille river, and that duck hunting has been par excellence during the winter. He also says that business is lively, and he expects a boom in real estate in the spring.
